COOKIES POLICY

How we use Cookies

Blackwell Global uses a number of different cookies on our website to help us improve performance. Cookies are small text files that help us anonymously identify your browser from page to page and from visit to visit. If you do not know what cookies are, or how to control or delete them, then we recommend you visit <http://www.aboutcookies.org> for detailed guidance. Alternatively, you can search the internet for other independent information on cookies.

The following information describes the cookies we use on this site and what they are used for. Currently we operate an ‘implied consent’ policy which means that we assume by your continued use of the site that you are happy for us to put a cookie on your computer. If you are not happy, then you should either not use this site, or you should delete our cookies having visited the site, or you should browse the site using your browser’s anonymous usage setting (such as “Incognito” in Chrome, “InPrivate” in Internet Explorer, “Private Browsing” in Firefox and Safari). You can also change your browser settings to disable cookies or to be advised when cookies are sent to your computer. However, this may impair your use of and access to our website so we advise that you leave cookies enabled.

Persistent Cookies for Site Analytics and Performance

Google AdSense – this cookie is used by Google to report to us how Blackwell Global’s advertising is performing if you click on a Google ad. User data is all anonymous.

You can find out more generally about Google and its policies and principles as regards advertising at <http://www.google.com/policies/privacy/ads/>

Google Analytics – we use this to understand how the site is being used in order to improve the user experience. User data is all anonymous.

You can find out more about Google’s position on privacy as regards its analytics service at <https://marketingplatform.google.com/about/>

Third-Party Content – we occasionally provide content through third parties who may implement cookies of their own. This includes trusted third-party content providers, who provide data for the ticker.

We recommend you set your browser to not accept third-party cookies if you do not wish to have these services place cookies on your machine. We have little control over what they do with the data they collect.
